Accessing Procedures Training Videos

The following URL will take you to the NEJM training videos for the procedures.

http://www.nejm.org/multimedia/medical-videos

If you are accessing on campus, you should not have to do anything at all. If you are trying to access from home, you will probably need to search for New England Journal of Medicine through eJournals on the Library homepage. You will want to choose the top link, since it goes to the NEJM publisher page, not through a secondary vendor like EBSCO or OVID. You will be asked to log in since you are off-campus (email username and password).

You should review the following training videos.

- Peripheral intravenous catheterization
- Female urethral catheterization
- Male urethral catheterization
- Nasogastric Tube insertion

The following URL will take you to the MCG Emergency Medicine training videos.

train.gru.edu

Login using the same username and password as for Outlook and search for Emergency Procedures Course (EPC).

You should review the following training video and take the quiz.

- Bag Mask Ventilation (module 1)

Instructions on how to perform a capillary blood glucose and EKG will be done during the simulation session. All the other training videos are for procedures required in the fourth year Emergency Medicine selective.
