About the Harry Jacobs Chamber Music Society

Welcome!

We are excited to present four world-class ensembles and performers this season. Our season includes the Ensemble 4.1-Piano Windtet, a Carolina Brass holiday concert honoring the memory of Augusta's own F. Cantine Jones, the Vola Jacobs Memorial Piano Recital featuring Leonardo Colafelice, and one of Harry Jacobs' favorites, the American Chamber Players.

History

The Harry Jacobs Chamber Music Society has been presenting world-class chamber music to the Augusta area since 1990. The 2022-2023 season marks the fifth year of the Harry Jacobs Chamber Music Society's partnership with the Augusta University Pamplin College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences and the college's Department of Music.

Outreach

One mission of the HJCMS is to inspire the next generation of musicians and music lovers by providing outreach programs to the community. In addition to performing concerts, many of the artists on our series will be giving masterclasses, mini-performances and working with local school children.

Support

Our series depends on the support of local businesses and private donors who understand the importance of bringing high quality chamber music to our area. This is a unique opportunity for you to have an impact on the community at large as well as Augusta University faculty, staff and students. We thank you for your support!
