

AUGUSTA UNIVERSITY

MS Epidemiology

As the world continues to battle the COVID-19 pandemic and the new variants circulating around the globe, a spotlight has been cast on the crucial role that epidemiologists play in helping control the spread of diseases.

The Master of Science in Epidemiology is for physicians, health care administrators, project directors and other health care professionals who want to gain additional theoretical and applied knowledge, skills and credentials needed to advance in their careers.

augusta.edu

WANT TO BE A
disease detective?

Accepting applications for fall 2021

