Chair, Department of Research, Counseling and Curriculum

The Position

Reporting directly to the Dean of the College of Education and Human Development, the Department Chair of Research, Counseling and Curriculum will be a dynamic and accomplished leader who will offer outstanding governance in departmental administrative, financial, and programmatic components while defining an innovative vision for the continued growth of the educational, research, and service missions of the department.

The Research, Counseling and Curriculum department is a unique combination of programs serving primarily graduate students. The programs in the department offer a Master of Education (MEd) degree in Counselor Education (School and Clinical Mental Health Counseling), and Education Specialist (EdS) degree in Advanced Educational Studies, a Doctorate of Education in Educational Innovation (EdD), and undergraduate foundations courses that serve the entire College of Education and Human Development. The graduate programs in this department are some of the fastest growing at the university. These vibrant innovative programs are meeting the needs of 21st century educators and counselors throughout the state of Georgia.

The department prides itself on excellence in teaching, close interaction with students through advising, mentoring of graduate researchers, cross-disciplinary interaction with faculty from other departments, and peer support/collaboration. The faculty engage in a variety of research projects ranging from the National Writing Project, best practices for counselor education, to examining ways to meet the needs of marginalized students.

College of Education and Human Development

The College of Education and Human Development (COEHD) has four academic areas: the Department of Research, Counseling and Curriculum, the Department of Teaching and Leading, the Department of Kinesiology, and the Literacy Center. There are 1054 undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in 10 different undergraduate programs and 10 different graduate programs across the three departments. The College has strong partnerships with the local community which allows for optimal learning experiences in a variety of educational settings. Our COEHD believes that teachers, counselors, and leaders should be at the center of all efforts to improve, rethink, and redesign instructional preparation. Practitioner voice influences our work and engages us in creating a curriculum where candidates are more prepared to work in the Central Savannah River Area (CSRA) and beyond. A coherent program of mentoring and instruction by school and university faculty is essential for the COEHD to be a powerful influence in the experience of prospective teachers, counselors, and leaders. There is a commitment to increasing inclusive excellence, promoting equality, and cultivating a welcoming environment for all students, faculty, and staff. The College of Education and Human Development's aim is to engage in and disseminate research, prepare exemplary professionals, and collaborate with other schools on campus.
Principal Responsibilities

- Oversees all departmental activities, consults with faculty in outlining and promoting internal departmental policies; ensures compliance with departmental, college, university and Board of Regents (BOR) policies.
